

Become a Governor at Hereford College of Arts

Help shape the future of creative education and support a thriving arts community at Hereford College of Arts.

Commitment

Typically:

- 4-6 Board meetings per year
- Committee membership where appropriate
- Reading papers in advance
- Occasional development and college events

The role is voluntary and offers a unique opportunity to make a lasting impact.

What Does a Governor Do?

Governors work with fellow Board members to provide strategic leadership, challenge and support senior leaders, and ensure the College remains financially sustainable and true to its mission.

By bringing independent expertise and fresh perspectives, Governors help create opportunities for students, staff and the wider creative community.

Why Become a Governor?

Make a meaningful contribution to the future of Hereford College of Arts. Develop new skills, gain board-level experience, broaden your professional network, and help ensure students have the opportunity to thrive.
