Core Modules

All programmes of study are made up of modules. Some modules comprise two or more assignments. Modules have a credit value that contributes to the achievement of the qualification. Each module has its own syllabus, handbook and assessment. To pass each year, you need to achieve 120 credits. Modules vary in size from 20 credits to 60 credits.

Programme Structure

From your first day at HCA, you will work as a creative, developing your skills and your own voice through a series of projects. You will develop your creative practice, practical skills, alongside your critical awareness and theoretical knowledge. You will study a range of modules that build your knowledge and confidence, totalling 120 credits each year.

Over the course of your studies, you will work towards emerging as a creative, agile, resilient and adaptable graduate with excellent problem-solving and transferable skills who can confidently apply research skills to keep themselves up-to-date with emerging developments and technologies in the field.

Each level of the course is designed to address specific sets of knowledge, understanding and skills. The first year (Level 4) is experimental in approach and provides the opportunity for students to develop a fundamental range of fine art skills both in the studio and the workshop. During the second year of the course (Level 5) the emphasis is more specifically focused upon the development of practice and contextual awareness. The final year of the course (Level 6) is very intensive and provides students with the opportunity to apply their knowledge, understanding and skills acquired so far in a personal and highly creative manner. It is at this point that students assemble a comprehensive and professional portfolio of work in preparation for a future career within the creative arts field.

The module encourages creative risk-taking and the exploration of new modes of expression whilst continuing the process of developing the intellectual and critical skills essential to visual art practice. Students will develop a set brief, with tutorial support, showing the ability to experiment and take risks and employ critical self-reflection and both convergent and divergent thinking in the application of theory to help resolve problems arising from the project. The students understanding of the interconnection of theory and practice and the need for constant reflection and evaluation of ideas and work are reinforced together with the understanding of the need to focus on an area of exploration and to identify and develop the critical and technical skills applicable to that particular area in order to successfully realise ideas. Critical awareness continues to be developed through regular group crits led by a member of academic staff and in peer group crits led by the students themselves. Individual tutorials will provide the student with a more personal forum for advice, analysis and support to extend and deepen their critical practice. A series of seminars will help students to further develop their understanding of the connections between theory and practice and will reinforce the need for constant reflection and evaluation of ideas. Regular group crits and peer group crits will help develop critical awareness. Individual tutorials will continue to provide a more personal forum for advice, analysis and support to extend and deepen critical practice.
Skills 2	20	This module reinforces the critical and intellectual tools essential for art practice through drawing in its widest sense, and this includes questioning what a drawing is and could be. Students are encouraged to question conventions and assumptions about drawing, and will develop their knowledge and understanding of drawing as a tool to explore the visible world, the non-visible, the imagination, gesture and mark making

		and through this exploration, focus on and identify their own practice more clearly. The module emphasises the need for constant reflection and evaluation of ideas and work. Critical awareness will continue to be developed through regular Group Crits led by a member of academic staff and in peer Group Crits led by the students themselves. Individual tutorials will provide the student with a more personal forum for advice, analysis and support to extend and deepen their critical practice. A series of workshops and seminars will help to develop knowledge and understanding of drawing as a tool to explore the visible world, materials, the imagination, and with which to develop ideas and research strategies. Students will produce a body of experimental and investigative drawings informed by their developing concerns and interests. By the end of the module students will have produced a significant body of practical research and investigation and have developed a deepening understanding of contemporary drawing practice. This module will help to reinforce the critical and intellectual tools essential for art practice. Considering the nature of ‘drawing’ as a verb and a noun, a process and an outcome, students will investigate the suitability and use of materials in contemporary drawing practice. What is drawing? This module is intended to give students the opportunity to consider more clearly what drawing CAN be and what its relevance is to THEIR practice.
Practice 4	30	This Module enables students to expand their understanding of their creative ambitions through the production of a body of independent studio work. The module encourages creative risk taking and the exploration of new modes of expression whilst continuing the process of developing the intellectual and critical skills essential to visual art practice. Students will develop a self-set brief, with tutorial support, growing out of the studio practice of the previous modules and showing appropriate advanced skills and the ability to experiment and take risks and employ critical self-reflection and both convergent and divergent thinking in the application of theory to help resolve problems arising from the self-initiated project. The students’ understanding of the interconnection of theory and practice and the need for constant reflection and evaluation of ideas and work are reinforced together with the understanding of the need to focus on an area of exploration and to identify and develop the critical and technical skills applicable to that particular area in order to successfully realise ideas. Critical awareness continues to be developed through regular group crits led by a member of academic staff and in peer group crits led by the students themselves. Individual tutorials will provide the student with a more personal forum for advice, analysis and support to extend and deepen their critical practice. Students will be expected to document their ideas not only as part of their self-reflection but in the development of their portfolio of work, which will provide a basis for future professional practice.

		Students will be encouraged to organise and take part in a peer group exhibition of some of the work produced in this module in a venue outside the College and selected by the peer group of students. They would be expected to apply the techniques of professional exhibiting to their exhibition. Documentation of their exhibitions will add strength to their portfolio of work and will be assessed.
Professional Practice 1	20	During this module, students will develop professional skills through independently negotiating, organising and completing an appropriate period of professional work experience. Opportunities for professional work experience may include, live briefs, individual and group exhibitions, participating in national or international conferences, competitions, curation , commissions, designing and delivering a socially engaged community or schools project or undertaking placements in arts organisations such as arts workshops, art co-operatives, galleries etc. A series of visiting speakers, ranging from artist to professionals from creative organisations and education, will provide insightful advice into areas such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• How to approach individual creative or organisations.</li> <li>• What different creative professions entail.</li> <li>• Expectations in the workplace.</li> <li>• How to plan content for and deliver education / community-based art projects.</li> <li>• Working to client commission/competition briefs.</li> <li>• Collectives/Collaboration/Networking Working with other people, How, why, what and when?</li> </ul> Students will document and reflect on their professional work experience(s) and create a multi-media Professional Development Plan with supporting material for summative assessment.

BA (Hons) Fine Art Level 6 (Year 3) Full time
Module Title	Credits	Module Description
Practice in Context 3	20	The content of this module differs for each student, as each undertakes a research project into a self-selected topic designed to help them make sense of their own specialist area of studio practice in terms of culture, context and critical theory. Working closely with an individual supervisor, students are guided to select a research topic that is both manageable and appropriate to their studio interests and are helped both to locate and organise relevant sources and to construct a critical position informed by theory
Practice 5	30	This is the first of the two Practice modules at Level 6. It encourages creative risk taking and exploration of new modes of expression whilst increasing an understanding of professional contexts. Students will develop an autonomous approach to their creative practice that will focus on the ability to learn independently.

		Students will explore and develop advanced specialist processes, materials and concepts pertinent to their practice, underpinned by the work of key practitioners. Group tutorials and seminars provide opportunities for dialogue and interaction between tutors and students and will be used to collectively review work in progress and present and debate key issues. Whilst the studio practice created in this module will necessarily have a speculative and unresolved character, it must be supported by in-depth research. The student will therefore be required to present the research sources that inform the practice undertaken in this module. Through critical analysis and evaluation, students will investigate the potential in their creative practice, and produce a body of work that demonstrates intellectual enquiry and risk taking through autonomous learning. Students are encouraged to confidently articulate their own practice and that of others. The creative practice produced should demonstrate a high level of skill and understanding, and conform to standards of presentation expected within area of specialist practice. Thorough documentation of this module is imperative and will contribute significantly to the students' professional portfolio.
Professional Practice 2	10	Students will revisit and refine their Professional Development Plan and produce additional material to support the generation of their graduate portfolio including the development of social media and web presences, business identity (where appropriate) ensuring they appropriately prepared to launch their professional careers. A series of visiting speakers, ranging from artist to professionals from creative organisations and education, will provide insightful advice into areas such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The employment landscape (portfolio careers, the gig economy etc)</li> <li>• Copyright Law, licensing, contracts, T&amp;C's, insurance, taxation, NI How, why, what and when?</li> <li>• The differences between Self-employment and permanent employment Proactive/Reactive/business ownership/entrepreneurship</li> <li>• Ethics, Morality and your career, an overview of how the Media operates censorship &amp; self-censorship/audience/working ethically/sustainable choices</li> <li>• Representation online/ Social Media networking How, why, what and when? Consistency of brand, Effective and appropriate copy, quality of images</li> <li>• CV writing skills/Letter of introduction writing/application writing skills</li> <li>• Costing work/funding- writing applications and bids/budgeting Evaluating projects and clients/managing clients and employers</li> <li>• Further study Postgraduate courses, Teaching courses</li> </ul>

Practice 6	60	This final module provides the intellectual and creative space for students to fully realise their creative ambition evidenced through the production of a comprehensive and coherent body of work. Particular emphasis at this stage of the course will be placed upon the student’s ability to demonstrate a high level of professionalism and good project management; including the facility to work independently. The resolution of practice requires the student to assemble a body of work that will underpin the next stage of their creative development and enable them to establish a professional career in the creative arts sector. Individual practice should therefore clearly evidence appropriate levels of sophisticated research, highly resolved concepts and creative productions and awareness of contemporary practice including an understanding of commercial opportunities. This module also provides students with the important opportunity to assemble professional portfolios demonstrating a clear understanding of the part they play in self-promotion and employability. The ability to critically analyse and select appropriate content is seen as a vital skill in the development of a professionally representative portfolio and the portfolio will be supported by self-promotional material, the completion of the personal development file and opportunities to make presentations to members of the creative industries. In this final module students are required to refine this approach and further resolve their individual and personal resolution of creative ideas and provide clarity of intention and ambition in the work they produce. At the end of this module Students will work together with academic staff in the process of organising and curating a final exhibition of work exhibited within the College or an external venue.

Course Composition & Delivery:

The course is modular and is managed on a two-semester schedule totalling 31 weeks of tuition. The academic year begins in September and ends in June.

Level 4: the course defines Level 4 as induction and core generic skills acquisition

Level 5: applies the new skills gained at Level 4 in a range of appropriate contexts

Level 6: students specialise through individual learning programmes

The total length of the academic year is 33 weeks (including enrolment, induction and a research week), with breaks for Christmas, Easter and Summer.

Students will have access to college resources (studios, library, workshops, social areas) on weekdays during normal working hours and later on some days and at certain times of the year. Students may also have access to some resources during vacations, and current information on this is available upon request.

Students are awarded 'credits' for the successful completion of a module, totalling 120 in each academic year. A single credit is defined as ten hours of study, so a 20-credit module requires a total of 200 hours of study. A student must successfully achieve 120 credits. 1200 hours of study in total.

The percentage of contact time devoted to differing learning environments depends on the individual module content, but the course seeks to use a wide variety of teaching methods wherever possible. Examples of teaching methods include process inductions and workshops, demonstrations, lectures, presentations, master-classes, online learning activities, tutorials and seminar discussion groups.

Assessment is almost exclusively made by submission of coursework in the form of a portfolio, although written essays and reviews, plus presentations, are also used. There are no timed, written examinations.

Blended Learning

Hereford College of Arts is completely committed to face-to-face learning and the vast majority of our education takes place on campus in our workshops, studios, library, lecture rooms.

We do use online learning when it's the best mode of delivery, for example an international artist delivering a live stream from their studio or where a student has an agreed exceptional circumstance that warrants online learning in that instance.

Typical Delivery Plan

The tables below indicate the typical delivery schedules for the programme for each pattern of attendance. The team reserves the right to re-organise the delivery of modules per semester, in accord with resource availability and student requests (which will be accommodated where feasible).

- Overseas students are required to pay their tuition fees in full by June prior to the commencement of their course.
- Any of the additional costs (see additional costs section) are collected via an online secure payment system.

Additional Costs

Additional costs are directly related to your study but exclude accommodation and student's personal living costs. Further information about halls of residence and other accommodation available in Hereford is available on our website.

The courses at HCA have been designed to minimise the impact of additional costs; some trips and materials will be fully funded by the college or heavily subsidised. However, typically, a student will choose to spend around an additional £250-£900 in the first year, £250-£500 in the second year and £450-£750 in their final year, depending on the scale of work and materials chosen or other related costs.

Students spend different amounts depending on the areas in which they specialise and individual choices. We appreciate that not all students will be able to invest the same money in their work, and staff assessing it will not judge work by the cost of materials or other resources.

The college shop stocks specialist materials at competitive prices and digital equipment can be loaned from the media stores at no extra cost to students.

Students on all courses will also have the chance to take part in optional trips that require additional payment. Non – attendance on the trips will not incur assessment penalties, though trips are designed to help students develop their practice. There is an optional annual cross-course overseas residential trip. In the 2023-24 academic year, the trip was a four-day visit to Paris at a cost to students of £425. This fee included a shared dorm room and all travel costs from Hereford to Paris including Eurostar tickets.

Places on the optional trips are allocated on a first-come, first-served basis.

On completion of Level 6 (the final level of study), some students also choose to take part in an optional residential trip to London for one of the various graduate showcases (for instance New Designers). Decisions about these showcases are made by the college with students on an annual basis and costed according to differing showcase fees, numbers of students taking part and ambition of display. Students are required to contribute to financing this activity and are encouraged to take part in fundraising events and grant applications.

The College is committed to ensuring that students considering studying at HCA are fully aware of the possible additional costs.

Following enrolment, students that face genuine financial hardship may apply to the College Hardship Fund.

Average Cost Breakdown

This table is an estimate of the minimum costs a typical student may face during the course.

The nature of creative study means it is difficult to be precise with material costs. We encourage students to source sustainable materials and recycle where they can however students are free to invest in additional resources pertinent to their emerging practice.

Unless specified the cost listed refers to the whole three-years of study.
